MAGIC PUTTY

Apply to the surface (flat or not), then press the plate and fold some putty up and over the edge of the plate (don't do it the other way round, it may not hold). In most cases this works well.

Can be removed with no traces.

Looks like dinosaur shit.

Works well (most of the time).

MOUNTING DEVICES

MOUNTING PLATE

- Tape onto flat surfaces
- Wedge into drawers, bookshelves, door frames, ceiling light fixtures
- Attach to wood with four of the enclosed pins

When you apply the pins, expect the outcry:

HELP !!

"I am invaded by film people, they will destroy my heritage, they will destroy my office table, my Louis XIV armrest."

It is not quite as bad as that. Yes, when you remove the pins and the plate, at first there will be four tiny little holes visible. Rub them with the back of your thumbnail, and they will most likely disappear. Try it – usually it works – if not: have your checkbook ready.

WHAT LIGHTS

Any – you know all that.

Sun to candle – anything you have.

■ Possibly easier

Focusing dedolight (there are 23 different ones), possibly with the magic parallel beam intensifier, applicable from the tiniest (Ledzilla with new frontend parallel beam intensifier).

■ Various focusing LED dedolights

DLED2 (20W), DLED3 (40W), DLED4 (40W), DLED7 (90W)

All can be boosted extra 200% - 500%, by adding our parallel beam intensifier.

Lightstream Lite can also be used with classic tungsten dedolights DLH3 or DLH4 light head, which also work marvelously well with parallel beam intensifier (DPBA714).

The parallel beam intensifier DPBA714 adds more than 300% over the already unprecedented spot performance of the classic dedolight.

This Lightstream Lite System is upward compatible with the existing Lightstream reflector system, and later on also downward compatible with the Lightstream Table Top system, about which we have not informed you yet. Still working on the next step of the third version of reflected light systems.
